

*The Center for Demographic & Social Analysis
Presents*

Zhongwei Zhao

Professor of Demography, Australian National University

DEMOGRAPHIC IMPACTS OF CHINA'S 1958-1961 FAMINE

One of the largest famines in recent history took place in China from 1958 to 1961, resulting in a huge number of deaths. This study investigates demographic consequences of the famine and individual demographic responses in some of China's most severely affected areas, and comments on rural-urban differences.

Click link for Zhongwei Zhao webpage information

Tuesday, May 7, 2019

12:30 - 1:30 p.m.

SSPB-Room 4250

Light Lunch for Early Arrivals