THE EDUCATIONAL ACHIEVEMENT GAP FOR CHILDREN OF MIGRANTS TO EUROPE: DETERMINANTS AND IMPLICATIONS FOR SOCIAL INCLUSION

With Co-authors George Farkas, School of Education, UC Irvine and Madalena Manea, Sociology Department, University of Bucharest

PISA data shows an educational achievement gap between immigrant and native children in European destination countries. Adjusting for family socioeconomic status and other variables identifies regions having educational systems that are more successful at integrating immigrant children. We also test whether particular origin-destination combinations have high achieving immigrant children.
